

Mr. Michael Breda came to Lowell in 2009 to direct the Consumer and Mortgage Lending Department at Lowell Cooperative/Sage Bank, and he quickly became involved in numerous Lowell area nonprofit organizations.

His long-time community service interests have included volunteering as a Board Member and in leadership roles at the Merrimack Valley Housing Partnership, Challenge Unlimited at Ironstone Farm, and the former JAMBRA Lowell Neighborhood Association. He also has enjoyed supporting the Arts in Lowell.

In June 2022 Michael joined the Pollard Memorial Library Foundation (PMLF), where he serves on the Development and Finance Committees and was recently appointed Chair of the Finance Committee. He not only loves the written word, but also enjoys participating in some of the many community programs and events offered at the library. And he is fascinated with the architecture, artwork, and history of the library building itself.

After over 35 years in community banking, Michael retired in 2019, allowing him to spend more time with some of his special interests; travel, friends and family, the world of art, and a local vintage home décor business with his partner.

Michael is a graduate of the Wharton School of Business at the University of Pennsylvania. There he earned a Bachelor of Science degree in Economics, with dual majors in marketing and entrepreneurial management. He is also a member of the 2016 class of the Lowell Plan Public Matters program.
